Patty Duke Wins Approval of Court

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Patty Duke, 17, received court approval of her $75,000 movie contract, but it wasn't exactly a routine procedure.

Superior Court Judge A. A. Scott decreed Thursday that the teen-ager had to pass a little math test first.

"Put down your house number," he said. "Now double it. Add 5. Multiply the total by 50. Add your age. Add 365. Subtract 615."

Now your house number should be on the left and your age on the right, he said. They weren't, but he found the error.

"Now that you've passed your test with a little help," he said, "I will approve your contract." Patty rewarded him with a kiss on the forehead.

Prime Minister Is Winning in Irish Election

DUBLIN (AP) — Prime Minister Sean Lemass will have the biggest faction in the new Irish Parliament again, but his prospects for a majority are not good.

As counting of ballots in Ireland's complicated proportional representation system continued today, Lemass' Fianna Fail party held 70 of the 138 seats decided. There are 144 members in the Dail, but the speaker — a Laborite — does not vote.

James Dillon's Fine Gael party had won 45 seats, Labor had 20 and independents 3.

Had the election been held on the single seat system, Fianna Fail would have been in by a landslide. The party increased its share of the popular vote everywhere. But the proportional representation system favors minority groups.

With recounts demanded in several cases, final results were not expected before Saturday. Representation in the last Dail was Fianna Fail 70 seats, Fine Gael 48, Labor 18, independent 7 and one vacant.

The present situation represents a considerable setback for Lemass, 65, prime minister since 1959.

Academy High Rodeo Slated

One hundred and five contestants from 17 high schools throughout Colorado are scheduled to participate in the second annual Air Academy High School Rodeo at the Reed Ranch Indoor Arena at 1 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Featured events for boys will be bareback riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, saddle bronc riding and bull riding.

For girls, there will be barrel racing, pole bending, goat tying, and breakaway calf roping.

Each school can also have five contestants represent it for a high point trophy.

"It is going to be one of the best and biggest rodeos ever in the state of Colorado," said Gene Reed, producer and manager of the rodeo. L. D. Ward of Trinidad is assisting Reed in planning and production.

"There are over four times as many contestants as last year, and there are 235 separate entries on Sunday. Ribbons and trophies will be awarded.

Air Academy High School Rodeo Club members have sold advance tickets and handled accounts. The trophies and a donation to the club were given by Reed.

Tickets may be obtained at the gate, and are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Students Told About Front Range Dispute

graph this morning that he saw nothing wrong with allowing SPABA's cause to be publicized through the schools. "It's more a matter of information," he explained.

He said the concrete company had not been requested to present its side of the dispute, but would be allowed to do so.

Wasson Principal W. H. Preston practically echoed Doherty's saying:

"If the Castle Concrete Co. would care to submit their side of the question to the youngsters, that's all right."

SPABA's letter, read over the public address system, included the following statements:

"The land in question is currently being scarred by the Castle Concrete Co."

"...perhaps, this time, a law can be passed to protect the Ramparts made famous by Katherine Lee Bates in 'America the Beautiful,' and the land in question can be returned to the Forest Service for reclamation, reforestation and possible development into a recreation area."

"...if your students feel they are in agreement with the stand SPABA is taking, their support in the form of signed petitions will be most helpful."

Petitions were available for the students to sign, Preston said.

A SPABA official, Mrs. Lorraine Burgess, said that "requests for assistance" had been sent to all school districts in the area.

Presidential Limousine To Cost Over $325,000

bullet proof glass, bullet proof tires, an engine capable of a quick getaway in case of trouble.

But when you add weight you have to strengthen the structure. Pretty soon you are needing bigger brakes, bigger tires, a bigger engine.

All this happened to the Lincoln Continental the President rode in during the campaign and in the inaugural parade.

The modification, or rebuilding, after President Johnson F. Kennedy's assassination, was done by Hess & Eisenhardt of Cincinnati, a firm that builds ambulances and those big professional limousines used by sightseers. Sometimes it builds cars for foreign potentates. It did the body work for the presidential car.

Willard Hess has been with the company since 1928, and in a telephone interview he said the word "modification" is misleading.

He prefers the old term: custom-built cars.

"About all we use of the original car will be the instrument panel, the windshield and sometimes the rear fenders," Hess said.

After sizing up the specifications, the firm builds a small scale model. If this passes the test, a full scale model is produced. If this is okay, it then goes into production.

A 1965 four-door Lincoln sedan weighs 5,075 pounds. The presidential job weighs twice that. The 1965 regular car has a 275-horsepower motor; the presidential car has 500-horsepower V-8, more powerful than any passenger car on the market today.

The glass is eight panes and three inches thick. The steel plating alone weighs 1,600 pounds.

The extra money comes from all the extra measures taken to make a presidential safe, Hess said, but no one will detail precisely what these measures are. It seems like a good guess, though, that that Secret Service automobile won't only be an armored car but also a well stocked arsenal.

A couple of questions remain unanswered: Why a second car if the President already has one? Presumably the second car is needed for traveling. When the President is on a speaking tour, his automobiles are hedged about by airplane.

When he's speaking in city "A," the other car is moving to "B."

When Johnson leaves "A," the car he used there is flown on to "C," and so on. Two cars would give him bullet proof protection.

U.S. Coins With Uranium Are Being Proposed

Hosmer, who is a member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee. The depleted uranium, or U238, would have no more radioactivity than the family television set, he said.

And the beautiful part, according to Hosmer, is that the United States has a big supply of depleted uranium, a byproduct of the manufacture of nuclear weapons. And since other countries don't make the stuff, they can't throw the U.S. monetary standard out of kilter by selling a lot of it.

"You could really stop counterfeiters too," Hosmer said. "You could keep the same size coins, and also the same electrical characteristics upon which coin rejection devices are based."

This is a prime consideration of the vending machine people. Before retiring, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon had this to say at a Feb. 15 House Appropriations hearing:

"It is very clear we cannot continue with our present silver coinage. We only have about three years of silver left."

"The real question is, in what way should we replace our present silver coinage. That is what all the studies are about and what all the argument is about: whether to replace it by coin that has no silver in it; whether to replace it by coin of a lower silver content; or a third possibility, which is advanced by the vending machine people because it will work better within the vending machines, is to see if one can make a coin that is a sort of composite, sandwich type of coin, with one kind of metal on the inside and a different kind on the outside."

SPABA's letter, read over the public address system, included the following statements:

Goren on Bridge

By CHARLES H. GOREN

Neither vulnerable. South to bid and he passed the next decision back to his partner.

East realized that the prospect for buying the hand from an opening two notrump bidder were somewhat remote and, if his side wound up on defense, it was his desire to secure a club lead from his partner since his entire strength was concentrated in that suit. His bid of four clubs was, therefore, dictated solely by considerations of strategy.

South competed with four hearts and West persisted to four spades. North finally entered the proceedings by raising his partner to five hearts and the auction—somewhat unexpectedly—drew to a quiet conclusion.

West had no problem in leading a club—thanks to his partner's resourceful bid—and East put up the ace. The shift was to a spade and West promptly cashed the setting tricks in that suit. If West had opened either a diamond or a spade originally, the defense would have been unable to recover, and declarer could not be prevented from winning 11 tricks.

Red China Rejects Plea; U.S. Waits for North Viets

Four Communist MIG jets fired on American Air Force F105 jets that were attacking North Viet Nam targets Sunday. Two of the American planes were downed, all four MIGs got away.

The Pentagon said Thursday 455 U.S. military personnel lost their lives in Viet Nam through Monday. It listed 329 deaths resulting from action by hostile forces and 126 from noncombat causes including plane and helicopter accidents.

In calling for peace talks, the President also said in his Wednesday night speech that the United States is prepared to initiate a massive cooperative economic development program for all of Southeast Asia. He said he would ask Congress to authorize a $1-billion American investment in the program.

Johnson proposed that U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant launch the plan. He invited all industrialized countries including the Soviet Union to join, and said he was naming a special team of prominent Americans headed by Eugene Black to guide U.S. participation.

Black, who served for 13 years as president of the World Bank, met with the President and some of his key advisers at the White House Thursday.

Thursday night, with Black at his side, Johnson told newsmen he had asked Black to get together with Thant and assure the secretary-general of America's desire "to be helpful in any Southeast Asia plan that could be evolved." Black said he had no appointment yet with Thant.

When a reporter pressed for details of what Johnson has in mind, he said he had asked Thant Wednesday night to evolve a plan and: "Now you are asking me to evolve it for him. That I'm not going to do."

Johnson said former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called him Thursday and said he had listened to the President's speech with great interest, commended the selection of Black, and agreed to meet with Johnson when he comes east next month. Johnson indicated he has to plan to bring Eisenhower into the Southeast Asia program.

CC Choir Slated To Present Concert Sunday

Palestrina's "Missa Papae Marcelli" and Dallapiccola's "Canti di Prigionia" will be sung by the Colorado College Choir at 4 p.m., Sunday in Shove Chapel on the college campus.

The choir is open to the public without charge. However, a free-will offering will be taken.

The works by Palestrina and Dallapiccola are among six to be sung by the 60-voice choir under the direction of Donald P. Jenkins, assistant professor of music at Colorado College here. Accompanying the choir will be a 17-piece percussion orchestra and two harps.

The choir has just returned from a two-week tour of 12 Eastern and Mid-western cities singing at Jordan Hall in Boston, at Lisner Auditorium in Washington, D.C., and at Town Hall in New York.

Palestrina's "Missa Papae Marcelli," dedicated to Pope Marcellus II during the Renaissance, is one of the major musical works of the "golden age" of choral music. Written for six voices and employing intricate canonic devices and contrasting homophonic techniques, the mass seldom has been surpassed for sheer grandeur of sound.

"Canti di Prigionia" was written during the German occupation of Italy. One of the great compositions of our time, it is an intense cry of the human spirit for release from bondage. The music, scored for chorus, two harps, two pianos and a percussion orchestra, is set to prayers for liberation by Mary Stuart, Boethius and Savonarola.

STILL BAKING

LEON, Iowa (AP) — For 72 years Mrs. Mae Roberts has been baking her own bread, and she refuses to stop now just because she's 90 years old.

There's a difference, though. When she was younger and cooked for her farmer husband and children, she baked it in huge batches. Now that she lives alone she makes small loaves and freezes them until she's ready to use them.

Uniform vehicle codes now are in conflict with the principle of parking lights as some states begin to prohibit the use of them from one-half hour before sunset to one-half hour after sunset.
Ohio and Michigan are among states with headlight-only laws. "Drivers can see and be seen best when displaying regular headlights," says Sgt. R. E. Kettlewell of the Ohio State Highway patrol.
"Parking lights just don't do any good when you're on the open highway," he said, "and the only reason there should be parking lights on cars is to have turn-signal indicators."

Fluoride May Aid Treatment Of Bone Disease

By FRANK CAREY
DETROIT (AP) — New evidence has been reported to support a theory that fluoride — the antitooth-decay chemical — might aid in treating certain degenerative bone diseases.
The evidence, gleaned from a study of rib bones of dead persons, was reported Tuesday to the 149th national meeting of the American Chemical Society.
Dr. Aaron S. Posner of the Hospital for Special Surgery, New York City, told about it in presenting a report co-authored by Dr. Edward D. Eanes of the National Institute of Dental Research.
The latter institute for years has been active in advocating that communities add fluoride to their drinking water supplies as a move towards reducing the incidence of tooth decay. Such proposals, however, still meet with sharp opposition in some communities.
Dr. Posner said the new research studies were made on 12 samples of rib bone obtained during post-mortem examination from mature individuals who had lived at least 10 years in one of four geographical areas having varying amounts of fluoride in the municipal water supply.
The study involved use of an X-ray technique called "low angle scattering" in which the X rays help in determining a rather detailed picture of the interior structure of the bone.
Posner said there was a correlation between the amount of fluoride present in the bones and the size of crystals in the bone's mineral structure.
He said this — together with the observation that the presence of fluoride induces an increase in bone-crystal growth rate — suggests that the fluoride actually becomes part of the intimate mineral structure of bones throughout the body, adding to their stability and strength.
"These results," said Dr. Posner, "have provided at least a partial explanation for the biological stabilization of teeth by fluoridation of drinking water."

Boaters Busy In Florida Coast Waters

By JACK WOLISTON

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—This resort city a few dozen miles north of the Miami Beach Gold Coast is a beehive of boating activity in these winter months when thousands of pleasure craft sit forlornly under canvas in the frozen north.

Fort Lauderdale boasts more than a dozen major marinas, including one of the nation's biggest, and scores of miles of inland waterways—natural and man-made, where a man's backyard is a dock for his boat. Where such in-the-water facilities are not available, scores of boats sit perched on trailers in driveways and garages, with launching ramps only a few miles away.

Boats here range from the smallest outboard runabout and sailing pram to the big beamy cruiser and the sleek racing sailcraft. Most are locally-owned; many were brought here down the Inland Waterway only for the winter season.

We talked with John C. Behringer, a local businessman and one of the most enthusiastic sailboating men in the area. Behringer believes that Fort Lauderdale and the South Florida area is unquestionably the winter sailboat capital of the nation.

"It has everything you could ask for—water, weather and shore facilities," he said. "Racing conditions are usually always ideal."

Behringer, a Dartmouth graduate and former Navy pilot, ties his 36-foot craft, The Harriet, alongside his waterfront home here. The sloop-rigged, Creekmore built vessel has been a contender in many of the contests staged here each winter by the Southern Ocean Beaching Conference.

A former salesman for a paper box company in Indiana, Behringer later formed his own company, selling it several years ago and coming here with his family to establish his home. About a year ago he formed the Credit Card Acceptance Corp., a nationwide concern of which he is president.

His work and his boating interests complement each other to provide a busy and interesting life.

We talked with the genial yachtsman at the end of a long and busy day—a midnight to 2 A.M. watch at the finish line of the recent St. Petersburg to Fort Lauderdale sailing race (he was a member of the race committee) and almost nine hours at his office desk.

"It's not hard to do when you like what's you're doing," he explained.

The recently concluded 24th annual Miami International Boat Show boasted more than 300 exhibits valued in excess of $5 million and attracted an estimated 165,000 visitors. This is in sharp contrast to the first Miami show in 1937 when 12 exhibitors showed their wares in a tent on the municipal docks to an attendance of 3,000.

This year's show, which ranks with the New York and Chicago boat shows as one of the three largest in the country, was staged in the huge Dinner Key Auditorium and surrounding facilities and was a tribute to the organizing ability of Miss Peggy Layshon, executive manager.

Liquor License Approved For Meadows Race Track

El Paso County Commissioners Thursday approved a liquor license application submitted by Berlo Vending Co. of Philadelphia, Pa. for operation of bar and restaurant facilities at the new $1.2 million Pikes Peak Meadows Race Track.

Midway Enterprises holds deed to the property, but facilities are under lease to the Pennsylvania concession services firm.

No one appeared at the public hearing in opposition to issuance of the license. A petition circulated in the track area drew only two protests of 15 persons contacted in regards to the license. Eleven favored granting of the liquor license and two did not sign the petition. One other person living in the area filed a protest during a telephone conversation with Norman Foote, deputy county commissioner.

James Tarter, legal counsel to the Board of Commissioners, said the license was granted on terms that it will not be effective until services are completed in Pikes Peak Meadows.

Completion of a cafeteria, clubhouse, grandstand and other track facilities are scheduled by May 7 — opening date of the turf schedule.

The cafeteria — 85 per cent completed — will accommodate approximately 70 persons. The clubhouse, bar and dining facilities — located atop the three-story grandstand — will take care of more than 100 persons. A total of 714 horse and "pony" stalls will be available for use at the one-mile oval and jockey quarters will be furnished.

A Pennsylvania firm, Shamrock Engineers, is general contractor on the project.

A $17,000 stakes schedule has been announced for the opening 40-day thoroughbred meeting. The $2,000 Royal Gorge Inaugural will feature the first Saturday of racing.

County Commissioners also approved a petition by J. L. Williams, B. J. Chafin and James C. Hadsell for permission to change a C-4 Neighborhood Business District to a C-2 Suburban Business district located south of Arcturus Drive and west of 8th Street.

The five-acre zoned area will be the location of an estimated $2 million high rise apartment building which will contain approximately 120 units.

Attorney Bernard Trott represented Williams, Chafin and Hadsell at the hearing Thursday.

Denied by the three-man board was a petition by Montell L. Dunn and Stanley L. Sall for permission to change an R-1 Residence District to an R-2 Residence District. The area includes two lots located in Austin Bluffs. Commissioners denied the petition on grounds that it would constitute "spot zoning."

He Didn't Have a Lawyer, But He Knew a Smart One

Keith McMahan, 2022 Carlton Ave., wasn't represented by counsel Thursday in Municipal Court. He didn't need to be for he is acquainted with attorney Robert Dunlap.

McMahan was on trial for an alley parking violation. Dunlap was charged with the same violation in the identical location several months ago.

As soon as Patrolman Ben McFarlan outlined the location on the blackboard, Judge Allan Asher could see what was coming, especially since McMahan, an engineer, said earlier he would like to place into evidence several exhibits. Dunlap had come armed with exhibits also for his trial Feb. 13 in Municipal Court.

McFarlan chalked in the alley between the Mining Exchange and the City Utilities buildings, and testified that McMahan's Porche had been parked on the south side of the Mining Exchange Building. Dunlap's car had been a Volkswagen.

"Are you acquainted with attorney Robert Dunlap?" Judge Asher asked the defendant. "Yes," McMahan said.

"I've ruled on that before," the judge said.

"I'm aware of that," McMahan said.

Dunlap's contention at his trial was the strip of land bordering on the Mining building belongs to the Myron Stratton Home, thus it is private property. He presented original townships as proof. Judge Asher had accepted this and had found the attorney not guilty.

He did the same for McMahan Thursday, noting that only cars of the dimensions of the defendant's and Dunlap's could park within the strip belonging to the Stratton Home.

Alarm Scares Away Would-Be Burglars

A door window of the Ute Liquor Company was kicked in at 12:05 a.m. this morning, but the thieves were apparently scared off by the burglar alarm before they took anything, police reported.

Harold R. Quisenberry, owner of the store, located at 19 E. Las Vegas Ave., told police after he had checked the premises he could find nothing missing. He said the door window was valued at $36.

Cold Nitrogen Vapor Helps Refrigeration

CHICAGO (UPI) — Channels carrying intensely cold nitrogen vapor are a unique feature of a new cryogenic refrigeration system for trucks, ships and rail cars. The channels one inch wide by a half-inch deep, are cast into thick insulation in the walls, floor and ceiling of the cargo compartment. Liquid nitrogen (-320 degrees F.) is vaporized and passes through the channels forming a curtain of cold around the cargo, say Chemetron Corporation's NCG Division.

NAACP Will Meet At Carpenters Hall

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will meet Sunday at Carpenters Hall.

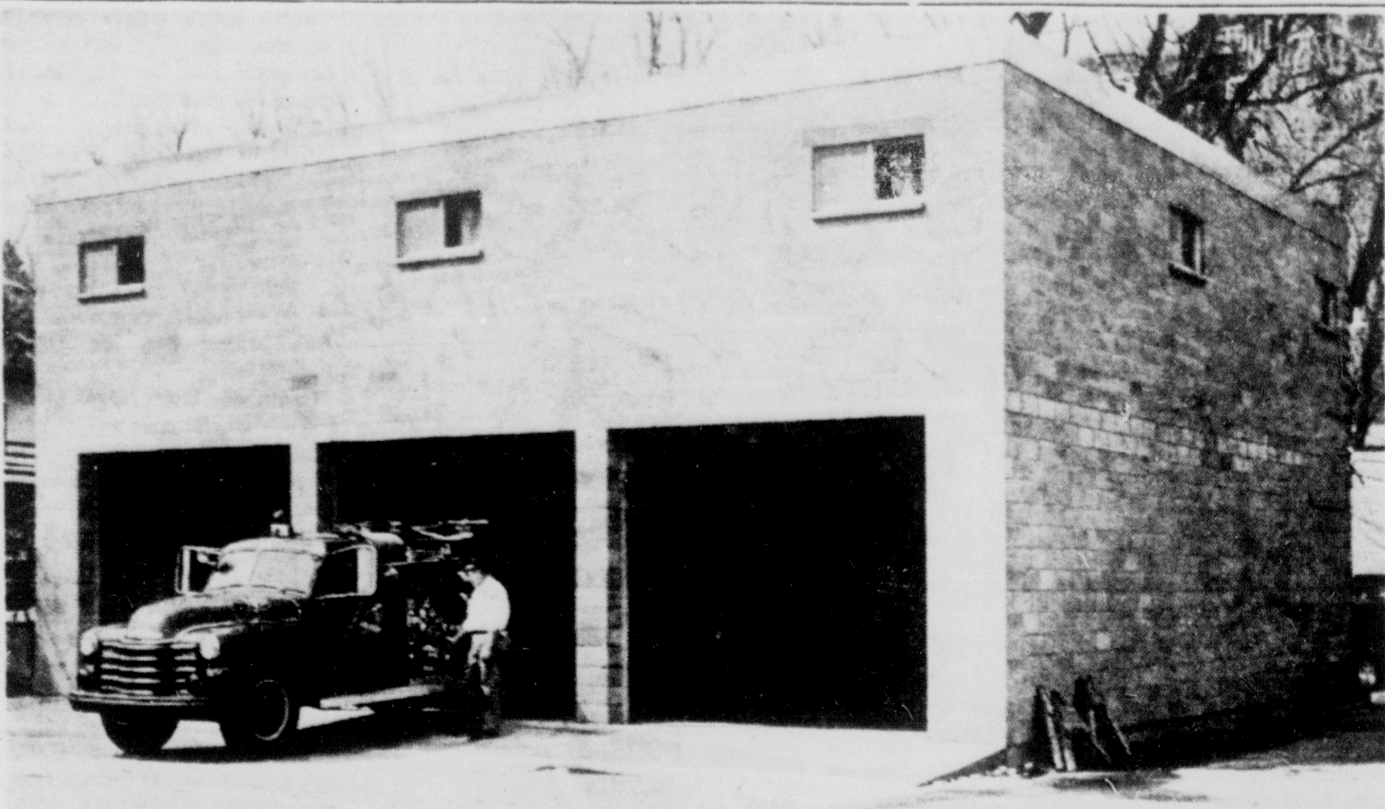

A general discussion will be held with the audience invited to submit questions, answers, suggestions and recommendations. Ideas will be solicited to be presented to the national convention of the NAACP to be held June 28 to July 3 in Denver.

The meeting is open to the public.

Manitou Police Resignations Topic of Meet

The Manitou Springs Police Committee will meet at 1:30 p.m. Monday to act on Sergeant James Smith's request to withdraw his resignation from the force, Mayor Lester Longaker said this morning.

Chief Russel Paul said Smith wanted to withdraw his resignation.

Longaker said that Smith's resignation, which was accepted about a week ago by the Police Committee, and could not be withdrawn by committee action.

Another member of the committee said that the withdrawal might not be accepted.

Smith resigned April 2 for "personal reasons."

Resignations would have to be accepted at a regular or special council session. The next regular council session is 3 p.m. Tuesday.

The Police Committee met in executive session when Smith's resignation was originally accepted and Monday's meeting will also be a closed meeting.

Paul and the mayor said that Patrolman Albert Licastro has not attempted to withdraw his resignation, which was made shortly after Smith's.

Thieves Get Just Two Dollars in Burglary

The Bonney Cleaners was entered between 6:10 p.m. Wednesday and 6:20 a.m. Thursday by thieves who escaped with only $2 and a cigarette lighter for their efforts, police reported today.

James McKiernan, manager of the cleaners located at 2322 N. Wahsatch Ave., told police entry to the store was made by prying open a door to the building. Police said a one inch square bladed pry bar was used to gain entrance. The thieves took the $2 from a small change drawer at the front counter, and also apparently the cigarette lighter.

Manitou Firemen Proud Of New Fire Station

Manitou Springs Volunteer Firemen are proud of their new fire station west of Memorial Hall.

"It would have cost twice as much without labor donated by the firemen and the many other contributions," Councilman Arthur Fannin said. He is chairman of the fire department committee and a volunteer fireman.

The sturdy, two-floor building of cement block construction, is a joint project by the volunteers and city.

Fannin estimated that the fire station cost about $15,000. Firemen donated about $4,200 to furnish and panel the inside of the second floor.

Fire trucks will be able to move directly out on the street now. It was more difficult to maneuver out of the old station.

Volunteers held their first official meeting in the fire hall March 30. Manitou's second pumper is due to be delivered this month from the factory. It will also be housed in the new fire station.

The first floor has space for three trucks. The second story has a large meeting room for the volunteers, a kitchen, fire technicians' quarters and an office for the fire chief, treasurer and secretary. The fire technicians moved into the building last Friday.

Fire and police dispatching will still be handled in the west end of Memorial Hall.

Leo Hendricks headed the construction committee with Ray Lowe, assisted by other volunteers. The fire department now has a strength of about 50 men. Such items as kitchen equipment, furniture and fixtures were donated by local and other merchants.

Retired firemen donated money to buy an office desk and chairs.

Firemen are planning to have a formal dedication of the fire

Woman Suffers Severe Injuries In Accident

A two-car accident Thursday at Boulder Street and Wahsatch Avenue resulted in severe injuries to one person, police reported.

Helen V. Marshall, 83, 2522 N. Wahsatch Ave., suffered a fractured left shoulder and severe lacerations of the left hand. She was taken to Penrose Hospital by E & E Ambulance, where she was reported in satisfactory condition this morning.

The accident occurred at 11:50 a.m. Thursday when Helen Marshall Stope, 65, also of 2522 N. Wahsatch Ave., apparently ran a stop sign at Boulder Street while she was southbound on Wahsatch Ave. She collided with a car driven by Gary D. Johnson, 18, 1011 Prairie Rd., who was westbound on Boulder Street at the time.

Mrs. Marshall was a passenger in the Stope vehicle.

The Johnson car had approximately $375 damage, while the Stope vehicle had between $100 and $250 damage, according to the report.

Arriba Woman Died Here Thursday

Mrs. Jennie Viola Boles of Arriba, Colo., died Thursday at a local nursing home. She had been in Colorado Springs for about three months.

Mrs. Boles was born in Marquez, Tex., April 29, 1894. She survived by two sons, Don E. Boles, of Clyde, Tex., and Lloyd V. Boles, San Diego, Calif., and two grandsons.

Funeral services and burial will be in Clyde, Tex. Friends may call at the Law Mortuary Saturday.

$281,000 Spent to Learn What AID Officials Do -- Still Nobody Knows

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—The huge foreign aid agency (AID), which in its 20-year existence has poured more than $100 billion into scores of countries, is trying to find out what four top categories of its officials are doing and why.

The American Institute of Research, Washington, D.C., was given a $281,000 contract to analyze and report on the functions, procedures, training and other pertinent details concerning four key positions in AID missions abroad — deputy director, program officer, executive officer, division chief.

This unusual survey, launched in June 1962, was finally completed in August 1964.

The research institute's equally remarkable report consists of a 16-page overall summary titled "A Study of Some Key AID Jobs" and seven appendices, none more than 50 double-spaced pages. Listed as project director is Paul Spector, with a staff of 17.

Although submitted some eight months ago and totally devoid of anything remotely confidential or classified, this $281,000 report has yet to be made public.

Also, as far as Representative Vernon Thomson, R-Wis., member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, has been able to find out, nothing has come of these expensive findings — other than that "they are being studied."

That's what he was told last week by William Gaud, assistant AID administrator.

"It is being carefully studied," said Gaud, "and some recommendations have been made. Others are expected."

"But there has been no concrete action?" continued Thomson.

"No, not yet," admitted Gaud. HIDE AND SEEK — Thomson, former Wisconsin Lieutenant Governor, who uncovered this unwanted piece of AID spending, had quite a time tracking it down.

First he was told it was "unthinkable" and "unbelievable." Finally, after persistent probing and prodding, existence of the report was acknowledged by William Hall, another assistant AID administrator, as follows:

"Primary purpose of the project was to analyze the functions of four key positions in AID's overseas missions, and to delineate the difficulties and obstacles in carrying out these functions . . . A detailed study of four positions was to be made, all of them considered important to the program of an AID mission."

"AID has established a review committee to review the report, sift the situations described, identify problems of general relevance, and recommend appropriate actions . . . Additional action is underway. We have other areas where the report findings suggest remedial action."

Says Thomson sardonically, "You would think that after some 20 years of experience operating all over the world and spending more than $100 billion, they would know what these particular jobs are all about by now."

It is Thomson's intention to make an issue of this $281,000 study when the full House considers President Johnson's hotly controversial $3.38 billion foreign aid budget. Thomson, a militant critic of large-scale foreign aid spending, will assail the study as another of numerous instances of waste and extravagance.

"AID has so much money," he asserts, "that it is literally throwing it away on absurdities like this."

BAFFLE THE GAB — Examination of the research institute's report readily explains AID's squeamishness about disclosing it.

Two conclusions stand out in these findings:

The bureaucratic gobbledygook that pervades the overall summary and seven appendices.

The embarrassing revelations of AID shortcomings, bungling and other deficiencies buried in this exotic mumbo-jumbo.

A graphic illustration of this bafflegab is the following paragraph in the 37-page pamphlet-sized Appendix F, titled "Personal Attributes for Consideration in Recruitment, Selection and Evaluation":

"Feasible means for measuring the degree to which a prospective incumbent possesses some of the requisite characteristics may not be currently available to AID. However, the inability to measure the characteristics within the constraints that now bind the agency should not be confused with the issue of whether or not a characteristic is essential to do a job effectively. If the characteristic is needed, and AID chooses and places a candidate lacking it in the appropriate degree, the aspects of the job in which the characteristic is required cannot be performed effectively."

Exactly what that means is anyone's guess. There appears to be nothing in the report to explain it.

Foremost among AID failings noted in the study are:

—Confusion over policy and its implementation

—Absence or ambiguity of policy information

—Difficulty in keeping up with regulations

—Difficulty in assigning priorities objectively among various projects

—Differences in interpretation of major policy between the four key officials

—Widespread lack of orientation and training of these important officials

"In all four jobs (deputy director, program officer, executive officer, division chief)," says the report, "incumbents were perturbed by a lack of definition of their actual responsibilities. Incumbents were troubled by the poor performance of other Americans, and almost without exception by difficulties of some sort with host nations."

"It was felt by some incumbents that AID's tendency to respond to the desires for 'big aid' on the part of the host government had the effect of supporting the established group, whereas technical assistants helped the other 95 per cent of the people in the country."

"Several deputy directors and program officers noted that there was confusion in their own minds over such things as 'Why certain objectives were initially established; do they want any planning at all?' What are AID goals, and where will they be tomorrow?"

"A State Department official commented, 'Everyone in AID is in doubt about major policy. Each asks, 'Why are we doing this?' or 'Why don't we spend more on that?'"

Appendix E, titled "Training Suggestions," contains the startling disclosure that AID is doing little about training key officials. Concludes this significant finding:

"The majority of interviewed incumbents expressed the belief that agency orientation and training should and could be improved. Those who disagreed with this view tended to be long-term employees, 'old hands,' who felt that training could not benefit them. Several of the key incumbents had had virtually no orientation; a number reported specific instances where they felt errors could have been avoided if they had had adequate training. In some instances, incumbents felt that the training they had had was almost wholly inadequate."

Another revealing finding on AID's numerous inadequacies is the following in Appendix G, titled "Policy and Procedure Considerations":

"A deputy director summarized the conflict of reconciling political and economic aims as follows: 'There are two schools in AID: Soft — use AID with a big shovel, use it for political purposes, don't try to accomplish much. Hard — restrict AID, control its administration and try to get results. People tend to be consistently hard or soft. AID policy should be liberal in amount and purpose, but hard in action and administration.'"

The report scathingly summarizes AID confusion, ambiguities and contradictions as follows:

"Changes in orientation and changes in top administration within AID, 'leading to conservative programming until people know what the new policies will be'; poorly written or ambiguous policy documents; contradictory inputs from AID on policy matters. 'Washington should make up its mind as to who knows best what should be done.'; general changes in policy without specification of the procedures to be followed in implementing the change; and contradictions among well-established existing policies."

SLAMMING THE DOOR—Determined fights will be waged in both the Senate and House to flatly bar any more aid to Egypt, Indonesia and other Soviet-leaning countries hostile to the U. S. The Johnson administration is against such categorical bans; and in the past has succeeded in watering them down by giving the President authority to dish out aid if he rules that is "in the national interest." This time, the opposition thinks it has the votes to block that.

Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., leading force in that chamber of large-scale foreign aid spending, has introduced an amendment to terminate all economic and military aid programs by June 1967. Thereafter aid would be limited to not more than 50 countries, and then only to those "which the administration has expressly justified to Congress and which Congress has approved." His amendment would also set up a planning committee consisting of members of the House and Senate foreign affairs committees and four public members to "assess our foreign aid program and to recommend a new one by July 1966."

Youths Assault 15-Year Old Boy

A 15-year old boy was assaulted by four other teenagers while he was behind the Western Auto Store in Security Shopping Center, the sheriff's office said Thursday.

The youth received several bruises on the face and his assailants escaped, Deputy Sheriff Arthur Toich reported.

'Family Living Series' Ends Thursday at YWCA

The "Family Living Series" ended Thursday with a second session on "Money Management" taught by Miss Margaret Szlich, executive assistant of the Exchange National Bank.

In two weeks, the third and final series will begin with six lectures scheduled on the role of Women in Today's Society. The Thursday classes meet from 1:30 to 3 p.m., in the YWCA.

Miss Szlich repeated her discussion for the benefit of class members who were unable to attend the first lecture, held on the day of the season's biggest snowstorm.

She emphasized the importance of a good credit rating, pointing out that credit records are kept on a nationwide basis.

"Sometimes a newcomer to the community wonders why a store refuses to extend credit to him. The individual may have taken bankruptcy, may have a police record or may have a record of poor payment habits. He is surprised when he learns that would-be creditors have access to this information," she pointed out.

She urged those having problems with creditors to see them and work out a solution.

"Don't try to hide from them. They are not going to forget about you. Often, a firm will work out a refinancing plan with a customer. This can save the customer garnishment or the harassment of a collection agency and it saves the firm the cost of this procedure," she added.

Miss Szlich advised the group on preparing a budget and urged that the budget include some savings.

"Savings should come out first, with food and rent or house payment. If we wait until the end of the month, it may not be there," she said.

"Today's Woman" is the title of the series which begins on April 22. The first discussion in the six will be led by Mrs. Ethel Joe Helligren, executive director of the YWCA. "Only a Housewife" is the title of the lecture.

The series is sponsored by three United Fund agencies: Family Counseling Service, Mental Health Association and the YWCA. Experts on psychology, education and child rearing conducted the first series for parents in January and February. This was followed by the just-completed Family Living Series which dealt with the problems of marriage.

The final series will analyze several aspects of woman's role in modern society such as homemaking, working wives, sexual problems, "vintage" years and recreation and enrichment. It is open to the public at a small registration fee with free nursery service provided for pre-school children of class members.

H.L. Hunt Writes

In the minds of patriotic Americans the United States stands for certain definite ideals.

There is equality of opportunity, and equal justice under law, with judicial powers reserved to the judiciary and legislative powers reserved to the Congress. There are definite limitations of the power of the Executive Department. It stands for representative government by an informed, responsible electorate, and maximum freedom for the individual. It stands for a system of ethical values which holds that it is unfair, dishonest, immoral for a government to remove the Constitutionally guaranteed rights of the American people.

These are inspiring ideals. We must not permit ourselves to stray from them.

The fact is inescapable however, that many of the freedoms we have considered our heritage are being lost. In business, in agriculture, in our individual lives, we are wandering and being led farther and farther away from the idea of freedom established for us at great pain, suffering and hardship by our forefathers.

Beyond doubt, we in America today face an issue involving the fundamentals of American Constitutional government.

Shall America be preserved

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Clarence and Margy started their romance on the wrong foot. But by using some tried and tested psychological strategy, notice what Clarence accomplished! So can all of you shy, timid, moody or unpopular folks. But you must have enough "fight" and pluck a fulfill the "Compliment Club" 30-day prescription!

CASE V-459: This is the sequel to the romance between Clarence and Margy, who had thought him stodgy and self-centered.

For Clarence was an introverted engineer who paid little attention to human beings and hardly recognized what a compliment consists of.

So I coaxed him into joining the "Compliment Club" where in you pay three honest compliments every day for 30 consecutive days without a miss.

And that is far more difficult than you may imagine, for about 90 per cent of those who launch upon this project in extroversion, drop by the wayside about the 17th day.

Actually, paying deserved compliments is really applying the Golden Rule in effective daily action.

Your words of praise may buoy up the drooping spirits of people who are literally almost ready to check out.

You may thus encourage church or civic leaders who are depressed at nothing but criticism and who figure, "Who cares that we are striving to do a good job?"

Words of honest praise are thus verbal bouquets that you can bestow while people are alive and need to be bolstered in their good works.

Many schools and colleges, as well as church organizations have thus adopted the "Compliment Club" as a worthy project for spreading sunshine in a cold, rainy or bitter world.

Compliments are also the "Open, Sesame" to romances, as proved by stodgy Clarence.

On his second date, I had prodded him to praise Margy, so he blurted out the fabric of her dress was of very good quality.

He failed to tell her she looked stunning in the dress, fearing he would sound too "fresh."

But I urged him onward, so he grew more and more observant.

"Dr. Crane," Margy praised him with glowing eyes, as they told me of their engagement.

"Clarence is so changed I would hardly know him as the same man who called on me two months ago."

"For he is always very complimentary about my dancing and my clothes and even includes my home."

"My mother thus told me he is the only beau I ever had who praised her so much, so mother is crazy about him, too."

"Oh, he is not recklessly lavish with his praise, but offers compliments that I know are studied and thus sincere."

"So I began to fall in love with him after the third or fourth date, even though I had considered him too serious to be a good husband."

"We are planning to be married next month, and I knew you would be interested."

This sequel is so commonplace that I am surprised that more of you shy, timid or unhappy people don't make the 30-day attempt to change your own personality.

You can be captain of your own soul and master of your own personality, so, if you are now unhappy, envious, timid or disliked, why not scrap your unpopular or "5th columnist" personality and build a new one?

Clarence is a true case to show how quickly you can do so. In fact, with his new extroverted outlook and use of discreet praise, he was given a promotion and made superintendent, with a big salary increase, too!

So send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

It can change you from a Mr. Hyde to a Dr. Jekyll.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Minor Accident Is Reported On Autobahn

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Army confirmed today that two officers assigned to the U.S. military mission in East Germany were involved in an accident on the autobahn Thursday. It said the accident was "minor" and denied earlier reports that the car went over a bank while being pursued by East German secret police.

Neither officer was injured. They were identified as Lt. Col. Leland B. Fair of Chillicothe, Mo., and Air Force Capt. Theodore C. Heine Jr. of Staten Island, N.Y.

The Army announcement said the accident had occurred as the result of efforts to avoid collision with a civilian truck.

A spokesman later said it was understood the car had been followed by East German secret police, a frequent practice in that Communist country, but that it was not under pursuit.

The two officers were held for about an hour by East German police. A Soviet officer then drove them to Soviet headquarters in Potsdam. They were released about four hours after the accident, the Army said.

Huge Gear to Help Space Exploration

GREEN BANK, W. Va. (AP)—A set of 28 gigantic "dentures" soon will be putting the bite on outer space to help astronomers search out secrets beyond the Milky Way.

The dentures are 3,500-pound gear segments forged by Alco Products Inc. so that when matched and joined they form a gear 264 feet in circumference.

The gear literally is a big wheel in space-exploration plans here at the National Radio Astronomy Observatory where it will provide lateral rotation of a huge radio telescope, described by engineers as "the most accurate and one of the largest in the world." Its accuracy is planned to be such that its findings will serve as a standard for other radio telescopes in the northern hemisphere.

A radio telescope enables astronomers to study the heavens by listening to the sounds and energy emissions of the stars and planets. The Green Bank telescope, constructed to an accuracy that would pinpoint an object within one square foot at 3,000 miles, is expected to pick up radio waves from as far away as five billion light years.

Litterbugs Cost U.S. $1 Billion a Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—Litterbugs cost Americans $1 billion a year, according to estimates just released by Keep America Beautiful. Taxpayers foot half of this, through the cost of cleaning up streets, highways, beaches, parks and other recreational areas, explained Allen H. Seed Jr., KAB's executive vice president.

The other half of the $1-billion bill is paid by business, industry and individuals in the form of losses and expenses attributable to litterbugs, he said. It is estimated, for example, that fires caused by litter cost home owners about $140 million annually. Litter also causes fires in schools, stores, offices and factories. It can be the cause of devastating forest fires.

This Article A 15 Second Challenge

This article, which you have just begun to read, contains 516 words. If you are an average reader, it will take you about 2 minutes to read it.

The average student at Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics will polish it off in 15 seconds. And will remember more of what it said than you do.

Reading Dynamics, according to Director Carl Peterson, is a unique, revolutionary new process of reading rapidly down the page, allowing the eye to trigger the mind directly. This eliminates the common habit of saying, hearing or thinking the sound of words.

"The biggest problem," Peterson says, "is to shake the old reading habits and admit there is a better way." No machines are used, just the students' hands, eyes and minds.

IMPRESSIVE GRADUATES
Although only a few years old, Reading Dynamics has an impressive list of graduates, including the late President John F. Kennedy's staff, the President's brother, Ted Kennedy, several United States Senators and the Queen of Denmark.

Their reason for needing to read six times faster than they did is the reason for Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics phenomenal success: the knowledge explosion.

Today, students aren't the only ones who have to absorb a lot more than the generation before them. Businessmen, scientists, industrialists, teachers—all sit with desks piled high with material they are expected to read and understand.

Unless they can read at a faster rate, it will be physically impossible for them to get through it all. The only alternative is rapid reading.

The Reading Dynamics student is first tested to find out his present reading rate. "Then we start the first night to break the bad habits which cause slow reading," Peterson explained. "1—The habit of saying all the words to yourself. 2—Seeing only one word at a time. 3—Regression, which is going back and re-reading material unnecessarily."

A group of students that completed the 10-week course in Denver had a beginning rate that averaged 333 words per minute, with 73% comprehension. Their ending rate averaged 2610 wpm, with 73% comprehension.

INCREASE 5 1/2 TIMES
If the Reading Dynamics student follows the prescribed course of study, he can expect to increase his reading speed 3 to 10 times with equal or better comprehension. The average increase is 5 1/2 times.

While the school has a complete library of material for class sessions, students are encouraged to bring their own technical books to study. In addition to improving their reading speed and comprehension, they can also get some of their "home work" out of the way. This is especially valuable to students as special techniques are used on technical material.

"We are so sure of our methods," says Peterson, "that we guaranteed to increase a student's reading ability by at least 3 times or his tuition will be refunded."

To learn more about this unique method, you're invited to a Free Demonstration Monday, April 12th, at 4 p.m., 6 p.m. or 8 p.m. at the City Auditorium Little Theatre, Kiowa and Weber. For further information call 473-2464, Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute, Colorado Springs.

We Live in Sea of Cancer Causes, Author Points Out

By PAT MCGRADY

We live in a sea of carcinogens—cancer causes.

Some of them are natural and long familiar. Others are the man-made products of modern times.

They are in the food we eat, the water and beverages we drink, the air we breathe, the habits we develop, the jobs we hold, the drugs and medical treatments we take, in radiations from the heavens above and the earth below.

They may be inside us—in the mechanics of our emotions, in the hormones we produce or fail to produce, in our inherited or accidentally disturbed cell chemistry, perhaps even in the cumulative chemical and physical injury incurred in the process of growing old.

There have been efforts to identify these dangers and to eliminate them, but so far the efforts have been weak and, except in a few notable instances, ineffectual.

Laws have been strengthened to ban some carcinogens from commercial products and bar them from natural resources; but, as against the dizzying pace of developments, current statutes and enforcement agencies have fallen farther and farther behind the need.

It must be made clear at the outset that the evidence against any single substance as causing human cancer is strictly circumstantial.

Courts of law, however, regularly send men to the gallows on circumstantial evidence more tenuous than the case against some suspect carcinogens still peddled freely and unlabeled.

Two sets of circumstances help confound the issue of what causes cancer.

One is human—the honest inability of equally qualified experts to agree on the validity or interpretation of evidence, the pressures and propaganda of industries to protect themselves and their products, and the natural tendency of scientists to surrender to or too bitterly resist the pressures.

A few researchers have been forced to resign their positions because their findings were unfavorable to an influential industry or product, but their colleagues sometimes argue as to whether true persecution or the scientists' paranoid evangelism was at the root of these incidents.

The second difficulty lies with the suspect substances themselves. It is difficult to ascertain what constitutes a real danger to humans. Some carcinogens cause cancers in 80 or 90 per cent of one sex of animal, and virtually no cancers in littermates of the opposite sex.

THE 'CANCER HOUSE' MYSTERY

And even though a carcinogen induces tumors in a wide variety of mice, rats, dogs, cats, rabbits, guinea pigs, flies, cockroaches, sunflowers, fish, and chickens, almost invariably a few organisms escape.

Except in highly inbred strains, susceptibility to cancer varies as much as or more than the carcinogenic agents themselves.

Some carcinogens act alone. Some must work together. Many must be dissolved in natural fats, oils, or water to take effect. And some cause cancer only when altered by body chemistry.

Some have an additive effect—that is two or more of them pool their potency. Some have a multiplying effect—one may make another five or ten times as potent. One may cancel out the effects of another. Some cancer-causers even are used as anti-cancer drugs.

Some chemicals act in concert with physical or chemical injury, cold, heat, growth, aging, genes, hormones, viruses, rays, vitamins or enzymes. Some cancer-causers are inactive unless there is a deficiency of a vitamin or hormone or enzyme.

Some of the foremost absurdities in the fertile field of medical fantasy center around carcinogens.

They range from soothing assurances by manufacturers and vendors to ridiculous declarations by alarmists: from panic printed in public periodicals to childish secrecy—supposedly preventing—by scientists and health agencies.

The most notable instance of federal action against a carcinogen was in the famous tainted cranberry episode. The government's intemperate blast in a naive press against defiant cranberry growers did not win the confidence of the public or the respect of science.

The answer to the riddle of cancer-causation may be basic—such as the possibility of some yet unknown common denominator. But important clues could lie in a number of other vague areas.

Is there, for instance, such a thing as a "house of cancer"—a house in which an inordinate number of cancer deaths have occurred? There are a number of these eerie residences in which all or almost all unrelated tenant families for a half-century or more lost at least one member to cancer. Is this sheer coincidence? Or is there something in the structure, the grounds, the air, or the water which is conducive to cancer?

Is it mere coincidence that in the class of 1940 of one Maryland high school of 400 students, seven developed leukemia and died within a decade? That all victims lived on the same street and sat near one another in class? And three more classmates died of cancers related to leukemia?

Carcinogens have been recognized for almost 200 years ever since scientists traced the cause of scrotum cancer in London chimney sweeps to soot.

NO TIME TO WAIT

Some 30 years ago, it was first shown that butter yellow, a food additive, caused liver cancer in rats.

Since then, many new carcinogens have been identified. Some are among the 900 artificial chemicals in common use, and possibly among the 50 or so introduced each year to the public. They are called carcinogens because they cause cancers in experimental animals. Most independent scientists consider this evidence of a potential danger to man.

The path to scientific proof has many pitfalls. For instance, an appallingly high lung-cancer rate is said to prevail around Anaconda, Mont., where copper smelting is virtually the sole industry. Part of the answer could be that the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, housing patients with many respiratory diseases, happens to be located in the same county.

There is obvious validity to the claims of industry that if

Five Women Are in Crew of Freighter

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP)—The girl-in-every-port tradition doesn't go for some members of the crew of the Norwegian grain carrier Belinda.

There are five women in the crew and four of them are the wives of officers.

Capt. Ranglevald Rove says one effect is that there is less swearing among the crew. General behavior and dress among the men have also improved.

Practically all stewards' jobs on Scandinavian ships now are filled by women and many Swedish ships carry female radio operators.

Even in Norway, with its seafaring tradition, it's becoming difficult to get men to go to sea, so women are being recruited to fill certain jobs.

There's one problem, Capt. Rove says. The marriage rate among such women is high. Some ships have solved this problem by recruiting wives of crew members.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR EASTER

COLO SPRINGS — Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. It's more than 15 pounds overweight than you are. It's not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, slimmer figure today without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of diet. The diet is constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the fiber's ability to absorb fat and oil, and cannot give or add. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feather-etched panel down each side of this diet will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The diet itself is a "Wonder-Luce" blend. It's a new power blend consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" is in both girls and pants versions. It's the peak achievement of the California designer-genius Claps. They are available in our area at Neutronics and may be ordered by phoning 434-2881.

Tender Pot Roast

By GAYNER MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A richly flavored, tender pot roast is a blessing any time. But when the meat does not have to be seared in fat first, nor pots and pans scrubbed afterward, then it becomes a double blessing.

Here's the way we experimented for last Sunday's dinner with a recipe we developed: Remove meat (5 pounds bottom round) from refrigerator 30 minutes before cooking. Tear off a large section of aluminum foil, large enough to fold completely around the roast. Place roast in center of the aluminum foil. Season with salt, garlic salt and black pepper, then sprinkle liberally with paprika. Next shake a package of dehydrated onion soup mix over the meat. In small bowl mix 1 small can tomato paste and 1 cup red wine (or 1/4 cup cranberry juice mixed with 1/4 cup water). Seal the aluminum foil package completely so that no juices can leak out. Place package in shallow roasting pan. Cook in preheated 350 degree oven for 3 1/2 to 4 hours. Open package and place pot roast on hot platter. Serve gravy separately.

Parent-Without-Partners
Will Meet Sunday Night

The local chapter of Parents-Without-Partners will hold its regular weekly coffee and conversation at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Medallion Apt. Building, 2nd floor, Bijou St. and Union Blvd.

All persons who are the heads of one-parent families are invited to attend and become acquainted with the PWP members and guests.

To clean spots from felt hats, rub cornstarch into the spots water. Seal the aluminum foil

Brownies Make Favors For Blind Tots

Brownie Troop 121 of Holland Park met Thursday to make tulip cups from egg cartons as Easter favors for children of the Colorado School for the Deaf and Blind.

The troop also made 100 Valentine heart trees decorated with gum drops and chocolate candy for the same children. The troop voted to adopt the primary group for their holiday projects rather than working on usual family items.

Second and third grade members of the troop who worked on the project are: Elizabeth Bremer, Toni Crownshield, Liza Cunningham, Terri Lynn Harris,

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

I line my refrigerator shelves with white lace "plastic" place mats. The lace permits circulation while keeping the shelf rods clean.

These mats are especially good under milk cartons or soft drink bottles and are easy to wash along with the dishes, then ready to put back on the shelves. Mrs. P. M. Goldrick

Oh Gals:

This is about the most wonderful idea I have come across in a long time. Here's why: Circulation is the answer to a refrigerator working properly. The lace mats allow perfect circulation to continue.

Also, because they are plastic, the mats may be laid in the bottom of your dishpan before putting in your dishes (so they will soak longer and the good will come loose) and rinsed quickly under your hot water faucet, given a quick shake and replaced immediately.

They can be cut "any" size or shape to fit "that particular space which your special need calls for. Such as milk cartons, those tiny jars that sometimes tip and fall over on the refrigerator spokes.

Many of you write that you line your shelves with foil, freezer paper, etc.

"Don't" do this. Eventually it will ruin the motor.

Besides, it cuts down the proper, free, flow of cold circulated air and it is not distributed evenly as it should be.

So... I say to you if you want to line the shelf where you keep your milk and spilly objects, then use those lace-type place mats. They're O.K. in my book and are the perfect answer.

And every bit of thanks to that doll, Mrs. Goldrick, for putting us wise to this. —Heloise

P.S. I just learned that those of you who have that damp-type refrigerator, that you can put lace type place mats in the bottom of your dehydrator and the excess moisture will drip through the lace and prevent slushy vegetables too! Try that if you have a scrap left. I did. It's great.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Dear Heloise: Every mother with children has heard this... "Mother, please help me put my skates on." "My skate just came off."

My idea came to me when I had to purchase a pair of skate straps because the original ones were lost.

I bought "two" pairs of straps, removed the toe clamps on the skates and used one pair of the straps in place of the clamps.

My youngest daughter can now put her skates on by herself.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Mentally Confused!

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend says that what he likes most about me is that I am morally aloof. He is right. I don't put up with any monkey business.

Fred (not his real name) used to be very thick with a certain girl for about three years. He said she was not morally aloof like I was. In fact, she was just the opposite. Now Fred tells me that he has to go back with her every now and then to test his strength and make sure that he is absolutely through with her. I don't care for this idea. He says I don't have any kick coming because I always win out since he always comes back to me, which proves that he is absolutely through with her, doesn't it? I think there's something wrong with the way he figures. What is it? —MORALLY ALOOF

DEAR ALOOF: It's heads he wins, tails you lose. Tell Fred that if he can't prove his "strength" by staying away from the other gal entirely, you'll be not only morally aloof, but physically absent from his life.

DEAR ABBY: I don't mind people borrowing things, but I can't stand beggars. My neighbor (I can't call her a friend, she is just an acquaintance) carries things too far. She sends her children over here for two eggs, or shoe polish or sugar, mustard, or bread. She has even borrowed money from me. She has never returned anything. Her excuse is, "We didn't have time to go to the store."

Since I always have on hand what she sends for, I can't say I don't have it and sin against God. And I can't say I can't spare it when I really can. My husband hates this situation. And it is getting me down. Please advice. —DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: Don't lie. Tell your neighbor that because she has never returned anything she's borrowed, you have decided not to lend her anything in the future. It may be exactly what she needs to wake her up. If she's offended and never speaks to you again, you are not out much.

DEAR ABBY: I met a woman recently at the home of a mutual friend. She was very pretty, intelligent, refined and friendly. But for some strange reason, which I cannot for the life of me understand, I took an instant dislike to her. This has been bothering me because I rarely form an opinion about a self. Also, I think the strap will save on her shoes... for skate clamps seem to be pulling the soles of the shoes loose.

I wish I had come across this idea three children ago! —Hazel

Winter Care Of Clothes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Do your winter wardrobe a favor by protecting it from unwanted lingering odors. While wools usually need less cleaning and pressing than summer clothes, they can hold odors.

Start from the inside out by using medicated powder after your bath, for tip-toe freshness. The entire body should be treated, not just the underarm area. The medicated powder is more absorbent than regular after-bath powder. What else helps: rotate winter garments. Also, air them occasionally, to restore freshness.

Caterina Valente of "The Entertainers" on the CBS television network also has her own show on German and Italian television.

Lemons

For Beauty

To keep your skin clear and fair and your hair brilliant you need the natural cleansing and bleaching tonic of lemons. Ask your druggist for a bottle of lemon jelly, the latest lemon-type skin fresher that beautiful women are now using. Lemon jelly bleaches yellowness of the hands and neck, beautifies the complexion as it melts out plugged pores and closes them to a beautifully fine texture. Lemon jelly is excellent for a quick cleanse or to quell a greasy nose. A little lemon jelly brushed on the hair after your shampoo will give it the glamour of sparkling diamonds. This is a luxury skin fresher and cleanser.

Go Ahead, Eat Oranges

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — My sister says I should not eat oranges because they will make my rheumatism worse. Please tell me if she is part in your life, for example, right.

A — No. Your sister seems more concerned than informed.

Lots of uninformed people have the idea that fruit acid is bad for rheumatism. What they don't realize is that fruit acid is converted to a base (that's the opposite of an acid) in the body, and that a base neutralizes acids from other sources. Eat your oranges or orange juice regularly and without worry. You need vitamin C (ascorbic acid) regularly in your diet and oranges are one of the best sources of it.

Q — What is low-fat cheese?

A — The fat content of cheese depends on whether skim milk, whole milk, cream or a combination of these is used in making the cheese. Plain cottage cheese is the simplest of low-fat cheeses. It is made of skim milk curd, is soft, uncured and practically free of fat. Creamed cottage cheese contains four or more per cent fat.

Although the results still are tentative, preliminary indications are that correlations may exist between strontium 90 levels in the human diet and human hair, the Division of Radiologi-

5,000 More Farms Are Lost in Iowa

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Iowa lost about 5,000 of its farms during the past year, according to the Iowa Cooperative Corp. and Livestock Reporting Service.

The Hawkeye state now has about 165,000 farms, a decrease of 5,000 from last year, and a continuation of the steady decline in farm numbers that began in the early 1940s.

The amount of land being farmed in Iowa remains the same — 34.6 million acres. The Service said the figures showed larger farms are taking over acreage abandoned by the smaller farm operations.

When the Province bell was delivered to Philadelphia in 1752, it was hung on trusses in the State House to try out its sound before being raised to the tower. A stroke of the clapper cracked it (the Liberty Bell) during these experiments.

Dean Chance, Koufax Top Pitcher Picks

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer
Sandy Koufax and Dean Chance both pitch for Los Angeles baseball teams. Both have won Cy Young Awards. Both led their respective leagues in earned run average in 1964 while compiling a total record of 39 victories and 14 defeats.

Both also were selected overwhelmingly today as the winningest pitchers for 1965 in The Associated Press' annual pre-season poll.

Koufax, the suddenly questionable Dodger southpaw, piled up 155 votes — virtually all of them before he developed an arthritic condition in his left elbow. He had six times as many votes as any other National League hurler while Chance of the Angels drew 95 votes, just about twice as many as his closest competitor in the American League.

Their selection by 266 sports writers and broadcasters followed that of Cincinnati's Frank Robinson and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees as the season's most valuable players. Earlier St. Louis was chosen to win the National League pennant while the Yankees were the pick in the AL.

The only hitch in the selection of Koufax is that the 29-year-old ace may not be able to make it come true.

Houston's Dome Stadium Causes Daytime Nightmares

By JOE REICHLER

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's new Astrodome is a $316 million beauty, an air-conditioned, steel-domed glittering palace; a wonder of wonders. It's also a place in which a baseball game could be called on account of daylight.

And that's no joke.

The luxurious Astrodome is perfect for night ball. You probably can play there in the daytime, too, but only when it is raining. But when the sun is shining, Forget it. Not unless you're unconcerned about a player getting skulled by a fly ball.

It almost happened Wednesday during a seven-inning game between the Astros and their farm hands. The players couldn't find fly balls against the lights and shadows of the dome. It was only luck that nobody was hit by a soft fly ball.

The development came as a shock to all who had come to get their first view of this colossal stadium that rises above the ground like some giant's misplaced saucer. The grand opening is tonight.

Houston General Manager Paul Richards may have been the most shocked of all. He made no attempt to conceal his disappointment.

"I've seen fly balls dropped before but this is ridiculous," What Richards termed "ridiculous" was the spectacle of routine fly balls dropping all around the players, with none coming close to being caught. In one inning, all three outfielders took turns allowing fly balls to drop anywhere from 10 to 30 feet from where they were stationed, without making an attempt to catch them. They simply couldn't see the ball.

All outfielders, and all infielders with the exception of the first baseman, wore their batting helmets in the field.

"I was able to catch two of the 12 balls hit in my direction," said Ron Davis, a fine defensive center fielder. "The left fielder (Jim Wynn) caught one or two. I don't know how many he missed. One of the balls I caught was by accident. I never saw the ball."

The trouble stemmed from the skylight structure of the dome, composed of 4,596 plastic windows and steel girders, each about 18 inches wide. The dome measures 710 feet in diameter. Once the ball rises up against the jigsaw background of light and dark, it becomes virtually impossible to follow.

In sharp contrast, the players had no difficulty following the ball at night.

"The background was perfect," said Davis. Unfortunately, of the club's 81 home games this season, 21 are scheduled at daytime. This does not include two exhibition games, Saturday against Baltimore and Sunday against the Yankees. The first regular season daylight game is scheduled April 25 against Pittsburgh.

What to do about it?

"Well," said Richards, "we contracted an expert on sun glasses and we hope to arrive at some solution. We're going to try amber glasses Saturday. The regular sun glasses are useless here. They're too dark. If this does not work, we've got two alternatives. The first would be to cover the dome, at least up to the second rung, with a huge tarpaulin extending from home plate halfway to first and third base."

Dodger 'Care Package' Aids Senators War on Poverty

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Care package Los Angeles shipped to Washington appears to be waging an effective war on the Senators' poverty.

Currently spearheading the attack is Phil Ortega, a 25-year-old Mexican-Indian descent.

Ortega, part of the Care package from the Dodgers, helped spark the Senators to an 8-3 victory over Baltimore and to the top of the American League's exhibition baseball standings Thursday.

The right-hander was one of five players the Dodgers gave the Senators for pitcher Claude Osteen and infielder John Kennedy last December.

Emigrating from the West Coast to the nation's capital with Ortega were infielder Ken McMullen, first baseman Dick Nen, outfielder Frank Howard and pitcher Pete Richter.

In 35 innings of spring pitching, the Senators' busiest hurler has compiled a 1.91 earned run average, best on the team. He has permitted only two runs and seven hits in the last 18 innings.

In his final tuneup for the season's opener against Boston next Monday, Ortega blanked the Orioles for five innings before Nick Willhite, another ex-Dodger, completed the six-hitter by allowing all three Oriole runs.

McMullen collected four hits in the victory that boosted Washington's record to 11-10.

In another development Thursday, St. Louis traded pitcher Bob Humphreys to the Chicago Cubs for two minor leaguers, infielder Bobby Piel and pitcher Harold Gibson.

The Cardinals whipped the New York Mets 6-1 as Curt Flood rapped three singles and a double and Ken Boyer two doubles and a single.

Stan Williams helped pitch and bat Cleveland to a 4-1 victory over San Francisco. The former Yankee allowed four hits in six innings and scored in the fourth after singling.

The Yankees stopped Milwaukee 6-1 behind the three-run homers of Joe Pepitone in the sixth and Johnny Blanchard in the ninth.

Deron Johnson drove in three runs and Frank Robinson two, leading Cincinnati past the Chicago White Sox 5-1. Chicago's Tommy Agee suffered a broken bone in his right hand in the game and will be out of action for a month.

Kansas City ended a nine-game losing string with an 8-4 triumph over Minnesota. Bill Bryan sparked the A's with a grand slam homer as the Twins lost their sixth straight.

Jacksonville, champions of the International League, topped the Dodgers 4-1 while rain washed out the Cubs and Boston.

Widefield Booster Club Meets Monday

The Widefield Gladiators Booster Club is scheduled to hold a general meeting Monday, April 12, at Widefield High School beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Election of officers for the 1965-66 school year and making plans for next fall's sports program will highlight the Monday night meeting.

Widefield Booster officials urge all members to attend this meeting. Parents and non-members are also invited to attend.

Al Lopez is heading for his ninth season as manager of the Chicago White Sox.

Dick Weber Is Firestone PBA Leader

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Match game play failed to slow down Dick Weber of St. Louis, as he won six of his eight games Thursday night in the $100,000 Firestone Professional Bowlers Association Tournament of Champions.

Weber lost one game and tied one to pile up 7,559 actual and bonus pins as he held the lead over defending champion Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., who made a big move toward a successful defense of the crown he won at Indianapolis in 1962.

Weber's eight-game total, as 1730, lower than the sizzling 1889 he fired in the afternoon, but good enough to take the measure of all his opponents except Dick Downey of Bloomfield, N.J., and Joseph Downey defeated Weber 224-221 in the seventh game, while Joseph tied Weber 234-234 in the fourth game.

Ortiz Puts Title on Line In Panama

By JIM BOWMAN
PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — As far as lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz is concerned, there's gold in them foreign hills and he has the record to prove it.

Ortiz, Puerto Rican-born New Yorker who defends his title against Panamanian Ismael Laguna in Panama City Saturday night, has yet to defend in the continental United States the crown he lifted from Joe Brown in 1962.

But Ortiz, 28, has polished off four challengers and seven others for attractive purses abroad while appearing in only one stateside bout, that a non-title affair.

This one has been a sell-out for weeks in the 25,000 seat National Stadium. The promoter already has $137,000 in the till.

Laguna, only 21, has a gaudy 37-2 professional record, including 25 knockouts. He has faced little notable opposition, is ranked only seventh by the World Boxing Association and has fought only once outside his native Panama.

But he's only a 6-5 underdog, perhaps because of hometown sentiment.

room. "Then the team took over."

"Let's say the Lord was with me," the veteran Bower said modestly. "I was pretty lucky on a couple of shots, but that's the game."

A grim-faced Toe Blake, Montreal coach, made no comment after the game and barred reporters from the Canadiens' dressing room.

Hull, who seems to have regained the touch he lost because of injuries in the losing games of the regular season, drew an ovation from a Chicago turnout of 16,666 for his winning goal against the Red Wings. It was his sixth goal in the series.

Chico Maki's goal had given Chicago a 1-0 lead at 7:57 in the first period, but Detroit tied it within 90 seconds. Gordie Howe scored for the Wings on a power play.

The fifth game of the series will be played in Detroit Sunday night.

"It was Bower against the Canadiens for the first two periods," said Punch Imlach, the Toronto coach, in the dressing game scheduled at Montreal Saturday night.

The Chicago Black Hawks also drew even at 2-2 with Detroit in the other semifinal by beating the Red Wings 2-1. Bobby Hull broke a 1-1 tie with a blazing slap shot from a foot inside the blue line at 9:12 of the third period.

Most in the Toronto crowd of 14,372 booed and booed the Leafs when Montreal took an early 2-0 lead on goals by Bobby Rousseau and Henri Richard. Only some great saves by 40-year-old Johnny Bower in the Toronto net kept the Canadiens from pulling up the score in the second period.

Late in the second period the Leafs' Red Kelly tipped in Tim Horton's slap shot, but the goal didn't seem to mean anything the way the Canadiens were skating.

The Leafs executed an about-face in the third period. No longer were they caught off balance and disorganized. Rookie Ron Ellis slapped home the tying goal at 5:16 on a pass from rookie Pete Stenkowski.

Just 40 seconds later, at 5:56, Captain George Armstrong banged in the winning goal on assists by Dave Keon and Dick Moore. Kelly scored again for the Leafs with 28 seconds left, this time into an empty net.

The Toronto Maple Leafs are back in the thick of contention for their fourth straight championship in the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs.

They turned back to cheers with a three-goal outburst in the last period for a 4-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens Thursday night. That squared the best-of-7 semifinal series at two games apiece with the fifth

Clay-Liston Fight Under Scrutiny

BOSTON (AP) — The $5 million Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight still is set for Boston Garden May 25 —

13 legal questions notwithstanding Suffolk County Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne asked the Massachusetts Boxing Commission the 13 questions Thursday.

He is seeking to determine if there are any state law violations in connection with the staging of the fight.

Byrne's 13 questions involved matters from the licensing of promoters to Liston's criminal record.

After the questions were submitted, Byrne said: "These things have come to my attention." He added the commission would be under no obligation to answer the questions.

"I have no reason to believe they will not act in the best interest of the public," Byrne commented.

"The fight is definitely on as scheduled May 25," said commission chairman Herman Greenberg. "We are starting an investigation immediately. We are calling in the promoters." Greenberg said if law violations were uncovered "the necessary steps will be taken."

Everything was gone through in the investigation in Washington after the first Clay-Liston fight," said local promoter Sam Silverman. "I can't understand why Greenberg didn't mention that."

Byrne said he was not "asking that the fight be called off."

QUESTION: Isn't it a sin to eat more than we need when some people are starving in the world? —F.M.

ANSWER: If you mean by your question, "Is it a sin to eat more than is required to keep our bodies alive?" I can say with assurance, "No it is not." God wouldn't have given us such a variety of foods if He didn't want us to enjoy them. The Bible says, "Trust in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy." (1 Timothy 6:17). Christ didn't proclaim a religion which would make living meager and pinched. We know that He once shared the joy of a wedding feast and enjoyed it. Our Father is pleased when we serve a delicious meal to honor our guest, or bring good cheer to the family.

But if you eat more than enough to promote your health and happiness certainly is a sin. If by over-eating you lower your efficiency and make your body an easy mark for disease germs, you are not living according to the law of Gods. If we waste food that could supply the hungry surely is a sin. Jesus told a parable to make all men understand that they must have a concern for others. If some fail to do this, in the day of judgement, "He shall answer them, saying, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to Me. And these shall go away into everlasting punishment." (Matthew 25:45-46).

The Black Forest business organization is growing quite rapidly. Recently the Chat 'n Chew Cafe opened under ownership of Mrs. Mable Bennett. The cafe is located on West Shoup Road. Across from the cafe on Shoup Road is our new Ponderosa Saddle, joint ownership of Bob Schmidt and Harold Fash. This shop does shoe and boot repair and carries a line of saddles, harnesses western buckles and ties and

LICK YOUR FOOD BUDGET PROBLEMS...

Through research...and talking with you...it's very plain that the most important item in grocery shopping is saving money...not stamps or gimmicks, but money. Now, you can take advantage of the revolutionary "Full Savings Shopping" concept at Furr's.

You've told us you want high quality, good service and low prices...and Furr's now brings you the lowest food prices possible...and on permanent basis!

No stamps...no gimmicks!...IBM Computer Distributer Center to cut costs on handling and distribution...streamlined service and huge volume buying...all these add up to tremendous savings...and this is "Full Savings," passed on to you!

Furr's sets the pace...we believe that none can offer you these low prices on all items in the store on a continuing basis. Look for the "Full Savings" tag on every item at Furr's!

... INSTEAD OF SAVING STAMPS

ONLY AT FURR'S BIG VALUE DISCOUNT

Tune your shopping to Furr's BIG DISCOUNT stores at the following locations in Colorado Springs: 2325 East Platte Ave., 1818 Alpine Drive and in the Venetian Village Shopping Center at 3105 North Hancock. There are savings on every shelf, prices marked down to stay! We've cut down costs in order that we bring you a lower grocery bill. See for yourself and be persuaded!

FULL SAVINGS SHOPPING

This new concept in the food business will bring to you, our customers, a new look in your food budget costs.

When we decided to replace savings stamps with our new "Full Savings" concept it was a big step but one that we feel you will endorse quickly, because Furr's will bring you, day in and day out, the lowest prices on the highest quality foods.

Don't worry about the Frontier Stamps you now have, the Frontier redemption center will remain open thru May 8th, so start now to take advantage of Furr's "Full Savings" and buy for less than ever before!

BIG VALUE DISCOUNT

SAVE $200 or MORE A YEAR!

On the basis of a Full Savings Shopper purchasing $40 a week, one can save $200 or more a year... $4 a week on 10 per cent or more discounted prices at BIG VALUE DISCOUNT.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Contagion Spreads

We received a letter this morning from a fan there we son "creating atmospheres" and pause to blush away in Duluth in our home state of Minnesota. After a few laudatory remarks about our attempts at acidity, she says, "If you have not seen this drivel from the editorial page of the Minneapolis Tribune before, you'll understand after reading it, why your March 23 column was refreshing."

She enclosed a clipping of the "drivel" she spoke of. And, to our mind, she is right. It is a very well written piece praising a most unpraiseworthy man, one Lyndon B. Johnson. The writer hangs out in Washington and has evidently caught the "Johnson fever."

He doesn't say that Johnson can do no wrong, only that he won't. Whatever he does will be right, no matter how far left it is.

The writer speaks of Johnson "creating atmospheres" and "breaking restraints" and other things. But we think the atmosphere LBJ has created smells to heaven, and that the restraints he has broken should not have been broken, and the power shouldn't have been grabbed and that he not only will abuse it — he already has. But then, we haven't been exposed to "Johnson fever."

Our fan finishes her letter thusly: "Every day that I read the Gazette Telegraph, I feel that I have friends in your section of the country." And indeed she has friends out here. Any friend of the Gazette Telegraph is a friend of ours. And we're happy to have friends in Duluth.

The March 23 Gazette Telegraph column she referred to was "What Price Corn?"

Tougher Measures?

Business Week magazine recently had an article on the President's crackdown against businessmen and tourists who spend money overseas. Now Business Week, which is supposed to be for the consumption of businessmen everywhere and which we would expect to take a firm stand against the administration's proposed "Stop the outflow of gold" movement, backs up LBJ and even suggests that it is "voluntary plan" doesn't work he will have to "take sterner measures."

"Tougher, more distasteful measures may be necessary," says Business Week.

Trying to stop the outflow of gold by limiting the spending of tourists or stopping business investment in foreign countries will have about the same effect as trying to bail out the ocean with a teaspoon. The money spent by tourists is peanuts to the amount squandered by galivanting congressmen and bureaucrats in their periodic jaunts to the far corners of the earth. But even that is nothing compared to the drain on our gold.

As for business and industry, we must have foreign trade and foreign investment, we are not self sufficient as a nation and we have a healthy balance of trade between exports and imports. It is the government alone, through its foreign give-away and its military installations overseas that is responsible for the reversal of our favorable balance.

The government has two means, ready at hand for halting the gold outflow: 1) Put an abrupt end to foreign "aid" (give-aways). 2) Demand payment from the nations who are now claiming our gold of old debts, many dating from World War One. Either of these would "close the gap" immediately.

Missing a Bet

In all the ruckus about "balance of payments" the administration is overlooking one bet that would cut down a few millions on our outflow of gold.

The Social Security administration is supporting many thousands of people in comparative luxury in various European countries, including quite a few thousand in Russia, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Poland and other enemy or satellite nations.

These are people who worked in the U.S. long enough to become eligible for Social Security, many of them drawing top dollar payments from many years of work in this country. Payment is made to them anywhere on earth and a dollar, even today, goes from five to ten times further in most countries than in our own.

We know an Irishman who came over here in 1923. When he retired in 1956 he went to Ireland to "live like a king." But our own dollar seems to Ireland to "live like a king" and he did for a while. He was getting $90 some dollars a month and was able to find board, room and washing for a tenth of that amount.

His mistake was that he didn't understand the law. He thought he had to come back to America within the year. This wasn't, and isn't, true. He came back, thinking to leave again when it was permissible, and got hooked by a widow and remarried. His former wife had died several years before. His new wife wouldn't move to Ireland.

Many American have learned that it pays them to live and draw their Social Security checks outside the states. Quite a few have moved south of the border, down Mexico way. Others have moved to Ireland, England, Scotland, Wales, France, etc. But inflation is finally setting in over there now and it may not pay them to stay in foreign lands too much longer. He retired in 1956 he went to Ireland to "live like a king." But our own dollar seems to Ireland to "live like a king" and he did for a while. He was

Silver Dollar Hard to Find

By RUFUS L. PORTER

In spite of the fact that we still carry Federal Reserve one dollar notes that claim to be "silver certificates," and in spite of the fact that the banks all hold some silver dollars in their vaults, they will not exchange your paper certificates for their silver dollars.

But, they can be obtained by some people for promotional schemes, and I understand there are still plenty of them in Las Vegas and in Montana, where they refuse to use paper dollars.

I had a letter from a friend a while back who lives in Arizona and he had been trying to get some silver dollars for his silver certificates, but all he got was the old run-around. One teller even called the bank manager, or president, and my friend was invited into his office for a friendly chat, but no silver was forthcoming. He mailed some of his paper money back to the nearest Federal Reserve Bank requesting silver dollars for it, but they mailed his paper bucks back to him.

A lady living in the Springs called me this evening and said she had tried all the banks in the area for silver dollars, but with no luck. But she was reading in the papers about a promotional scheme in Denver where they are going to hide 150 silver dollars in a big sand pile for kids to hunt. She wonders how some people can get them and the rest of us can't. I didn't have the answer to that. I tried as early as last July to get my hands on a few silver cartwheels, but was turned down, even then, by every bank in town. One bank teller told me to "come back during rodeo week, we might sell you a few then." I never went back.

One can still buy silver dollars in key chains, etc., if one wants to pay three or four dollars for them. Somebody is getting them, or else they were wise enough to lay a supply. If you have any you'd better hang onto them, they'll be worth 10 times their weight in paper dollars in a short while. And not because they are collectors' items, either, but because our paper money is going to become worthless in the not distant future, if some drastic changes aren't made by those who promise us a "sound dollar."

Automation and Jobs

By HOWARD E. KERSNER

If the right attitude toward automation is adopted it will increase rather than diminish the number of workers.

Although causes some temporary unemployment and dislocation, the major effect is to provide more employment, lower prices of goods, greater consumption and more prosperity. Conclusive proof of this fact is obvious when it is remembered that we have more automation in this country than any other, and at the same time more men and women are engaged in productive work than ever before in our history. The invention of the typewriter was a big step in automation, but today there are more typists than there were handwriting clerks before the coming of the machine. Typewriters were displaced by the linotype, but the amount of printing was so greatly increased by the coming of the machine that today there are more linotype operators than there were hand typesetters in the old days. Likewise there are more operators of spinning machines than there were spinners before the automation of the textile industry.

The telephone is probably our greatest example of automation, yet the number of telephone employees steadily increases. It is said that there would not have been enough young women to operate the telephone system on its present scale if automation had not come to that industry on a very large scale.

If automation is used to lower production costs and decrease prices, it results in expanded consumption and in turn creates more jobs. On the other hand, if the remaining workers, after some are displaced by automation, demand and get shorter hours and increased pay, absorbing all the gains resulting from automation so there is no reduction in prices, consumption will not increase and jobs may be permanently lost.

Suppose ten men are working at a job when new machinery makes it possible for five to turn out the same quantity of product. If these five demand shorter hours and increased pay, absorbing all the gain from the new machines, there will be no reduction in the prices of the goods and the quantity sold will not rise. In that case there will be five fewer jobs than before.

Now suppose that the five remaining workers continue to work the same normal number of hours per week at the same scale of wages, permitting a large reduction in the price of the goods. Sales will increase sharply and more men will be needed to meet the demand. The secret of a rising standard of living is lower costs and greater production, enabling everybody to buy more for his dollars. Automation is the great boon, bringing that blessing to all of us. All we need to take advantage of it is unselfishly to share the benefits with the public and the savers who make possible the improved machinery as well as the workers who man the machines. If that be done, automation creates more and better jobs, more, cheaper and better merchandise for the public, lifts the burden of toil from the backs of men, and makes possible a steadily and

There is only one effective way to destroy another person's argument, and that is to challenge his basic premises. The only way to defeat collectivist programs — such as Medicare, urban renewal, welfare, and the like — is to attack the concept of "collectivism." One must point out that what is wrong is not a particular aspect of the program, but the basic assumption of the program itself, namely that the lives and property of individuals exist for the benefit of "society" — acting through government — to control the actions of men and determine the use and disposition of their property.

If the so-called "conservatives" could learn nothing other than this, the cause of developing a free society might have a chance. Unfortunately, however, most conservatives do not choose to challenge the collectivist premise primarily because it is the conservative premise as well. The conservative and the socialist do not really differ in principle — only in degree.

When the socialist says "let us enact a federal law guaranteeing medical care for the elderly," the conservative replies, "no, let us enact such a law at the state level, so we can keep local control." A man who challenged the basic premise of collectivism would argue — "for any level of government to enact such a law would

WATERWAY ADDRESS!

To the Editor:

For the ninth time in three score years and five, Congress tries to roll out an Ohio River-Lake Erie canal pork barrel, conceived in legislative senility and dedicated to the liquidation of self-reliant railroads.

Now we are afflicted by a Great Society squandermania, determined to bankrupt the nation and to drown efficient transportation via steel wheel on steel rail by tonnage wallowing laboriously in water at public expense. We are met on the eve of income tax doomsday to dedicate a billion of tax loot to digging a ditch as a final rusting place for private enterprise railroads. It is altogether unfitting and improper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, the men who railroaded here have consecrated this site far above our poor power to detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget the monstrous debt we create here. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the mean task of preventing obliteration of the enterprise which railroad men have in good faith thus far advanced. We shall here highly resolve that this nation under inflation will regain solvency — and hope that the day of reckoning for liberal handout squandermania, by the bureaucrats, for the spendocrats, may be delayed a little longer.

SILLY SYSTEM

To the Editor:

For a people who follow a cult with the belief which needs at least two individuals for the exercising of the communal doctrine, it seems strangely odd indeed that they would resort to a policy of force in gaining their objective. To continue such a policy, ultimately one human would remain on the universe in the resulting power struggle. This last individual would be faced with two possibilities — destroying himself or turning to the concept of private enterprise. If the last Communist on the planets chooses to live out the remainder of his life in free enterprise, he would have been claim to be a defender of "individual rights" who refuses to recognize the absolute right of every man to do with his person and his property as he will — totally free from any restrictions laid down by any other men.

For those who might think that a definition of "freedom" which gives a man "absolute" freedom of action would allow such a man to kill or rob others, let me remind them that any man who did trespass on the rights of another would not be acting within the definition of freedom which recognized EVERY man's rights as absolute. A man cannot in the name of "complete freedom" act in such a way as to infringe upon the same right of ANOTHER man to be free from his coercion. "Complete freedom" cannot be interpreted as "open license" — such would be a contradiction in terms.

A person who is not willing to recognize the rights of other men as absolutes, has placed himself in the category of "collectivist." The difference between a man who believes in zoning laws and a man who believes in total government ownership of property, is only a difference of degree. Both men are enemies of freedom.

And I Quote

NEW ROCKFORD, N.D., — "This government of our is truly a system of checks and balances. Not too many years ago there was a relief check; then came the allotment check; then the war bonus check; to say nothing of the social security check, the unemployment check, and soon to become commonplace will be the Great Society Check. That takes care of the checks but we're darned if we know where the balances will be found."

Hunting and Fishing

By DICK MOORE

The spring turkey season, that opens Saturday and continues through April 18, may be anything but spring-like.

Heavy snows of the winter may present turkey hunters out in the early season with some heavy going. Back roads and some side roads in the turkey areas are still blocked by snow and others, while open, may be very muddy.

However, the snow will be a help as well as a hindrance for it will be easy to track turkeys, find fresh signs and locate the areas being used by the birds.

The bag limit in this spring season has been set at one bearded bird, either male or female, and hunting hours are sunrise to sunset.

Each turkey hunter must have a valid turkey license in his possession and the bird must be tagged with the carcass tag of the license before it is placed in transportation or in camp or in storage.

Rifles, as legal hunting weapons for the spring turkey season, are an innovation. This year, for the first time, rifles no larger than 22 caliber, both center and rim fire, will be allowed along with shotguns no larger than 10 gauge and no smaller than 20 gauge and bow and arrows.

Last year, the first for a spring turkey season, found less than 50 birds taken in the early season. It is hoped that with a year of experience under their belts that turkey hunters will do better. The purpose of the spring season is to harvest a larger percentage of the roosters, at least 50 per cent of which are considered as excess by game managers.

During the spring season, the roosters are the birds moving about, by and large, with the hens engaged in nesting practices.

A federal recreation-conservation sticker is now required for admission to designated federal areas, according to Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall.

The sticker, which costs $7, must be in place on a vehicle before the occupants of the vehicle can enter on or use designated federal areas. The sticker will be required of all non-commercial vehicles entering these designated areas, but it will allow all occupants of the vehicle to use the area.

In addition, the Secretary of the Interior reported, the annual fee represented by the sticker is really optional since single entry or weekly fees may be paid instead. However, the Recreation Conservation sticker will represent a real saving to a family if it uses these federal areas with any regularity.

Areas on which the fees will be charged are defined as:

Those which are administered by stipulated federal agencies.

Those that are administered primarily for scenic, scientific, historic, cultural or recreation purposes.

Those that have recreation facilities or services provided at federal expense.

And those that are of such a nature that fee collection is practical.

Proceeds from the sale of annual, weekly or daily fees are set aside in the Land and Water Conservation Fund which is then used as matching money for state monies to pay for the planning, acquisition and development of park and recreation areas in the states.

Colorado eventually hopes to have $2 million available to it through the fund, which, with the states matching money, will mean at least $4 million available each year in Colorado for development of a system of parks and recreation areas.

In turn, the state will then make available to its political subdivisions a part of this total money, on a matching fund basis, for local park and recreation development.

A survey team of the bureau of land management returned recently from the critical deer range near Kremmling, and confirmed that the small percentage of acres which BLM sprayed a few years ago as well as the thousands of acres of nearby brushland still available are covered with a heavy blanket of snow. "Deer are being forced to lower elevations by their inability to get at the plentiful feed that is still there under the snow," Lowell M. Puckett, State Director of BLM said. "Many are dying on highways and the railroad."

In order to find out what the situation really is Puckett asked John Clark, Denver district manager, to recheck the area which was visited only a short time ago by a group of Isaac Walton League members, ranchers, and public officials.

During the previous visit Clark said that the deer on the winter range, adjacent to the sprayed area, were in comparatively good shape & a herd of elk was grazing on the grass that had sprung up in the area that had been sprayed, rather than being down in the nearby ranchers' hayfields.

Since that time deer have left because of the heavy snow. The bureau of land management has the responsibility of providing for use of the public lands by wildlife, domestic livestock, recreationists, miners, oil and gas companies, timber industries and many others under the multiple use concept. Puckett pointed out.

"Not always do users agree on land treatment or lack of treatment so we have to weigh the benefits to the public, and determine whether or not, for instance, we spray brush in order to bring back other vegetative growth that would better halt erosion," he said. "Each project is considered separately. We make it a policy to get opinions from those who interest themselves in the use of the Public Lands and then act accordingly."

The population explosion often applies to wildlife as well as human beings, the BLM official observed, and if there isn't a heavy enough harvest, starvation in deep snow areas seems to be the tragic way nature tries to keep things in balance.

The POLAROID 104 has just been introduced as the economy model of the famous Color Pack Cameras.

Same great film. Same fast loading. Same electric eye operation. Same big color prints in 60 seconds (black and white in 10). Yet Polaroid has figured out a way to bring it to you for only half the price of the original model.

PERFECT RECORD
ISLAND PERK, N.Y. (AP) — After exactly half a century of driving without an accident, 79-year-old Alois Kotze has turned in his driver's license. During those 50 years the retired carpenter has owned only four cars, each lasting 10 or more years. Right now he has a 1950 station wagon and when the clutch gave out recently he decided it wasn't worth fixing. With no car to drive, he gave up his license.
